More information

The performance of work requirement for a contract is the percentage of work that must be performed by your firm or a similarly situated entity. This percentage varies based on the industry:

- 50% for manufacturing
- 50% for services
- 15% for general construction
- 25% for specialty construction

Similarly situated entities are 8(a) subcontractors you work with on a contract. A similarly situated entity must be considered small for the contract's NAICS code.

For your joint venture contracts:

1. The joint venture must meet the performance of work requirement based on industry. (See above.)
2. Your firm or a similarly situated entity must perform at least 40% of the total work performed by the joint venture.

For example, your joint venture got a construction contract with the Parks Department. Your firm performs 20% of the work, your joint venture partner performs 50%, and a similarly situated 8(a) subcontractor performs 30%. You are in compliance because similarly situated 8(a) firms performed over 40% of the work.

Per the 3/2 Rule, an 8(a) joint venture may not get more than 3 contracts in 2 years. The 2-year period starts the day of the first award. But the same firms can form additional joint ventures, and each joint venture may get up to 3 contracts in 2 years. Until the first award, each JV may continue to bid on contracts.
